

ADDRESSING RACIAL EQUITY IN OUR ADULT EDUCATION CLASSROOMS, PROGRAMS, AND THE FIELD

This three-part series of webinars examines the way implicit racial bias shows up in adult education and how it creates inequity for learners. The webinars took place in April, 2021. Cynthia Peters, editor of The Change Agent, led the webinar series.

April 13, 2021 - “Implicit Bias”: We look at implicit bias — what it is and how we can both face it and work constructively to change it (watch recording/view slides).

April 20, 2021 - “Classroom Strategies for Talking about Race”: We share classroom materials and strategies that both teach about equity in the context of basic skills and make your classroom more inclusive and relevant to all (watch recording/view slides).

April 27, 2021 - “Action Steps for Programs and the Field Addressing Racial Equity”: We showcase programs that made changes to make racial equity a key part of their program practices (watch recording/view slides).
